“ There is not a single thing that can be said to completely take your grief away. If there was I would be telling you that right now. I will miss him as I know you all will be also. I loved to sit and talk shop with him and it was wonderful to be able to spend time with him earlier this year. May your memories of Fred always brighten your day. He was a wonderful person. I feel blessed to have known him. My sincere condolences and blessings to all of the family. Love to all.....,

“ I didn't know Fred well, but my grandpa considered him a friend. But one can dismiss the impact he had on Hagerstown. What I want to leave is a poem that has always given me comfort when I have lost or just miss someone. Hope it can do the same for you. THE ROSE STILL BLOOMS A Rose once grew where all could see Sheltered beside a garden wall and,as the days passed swiftly by. It spread its branches, straight and tall. One day,a beam of light shone through. A crevice that had opened wide. The rose bent gently towards its warmth Then passed beyond to the other side. Now,you who deeply feel it's loss. Be comforted--the rose blooms there. Its beauty even greater now Nurtured by Gods own loving care. -- Helen Steiner Rice,

“ I am saddened for the loss. My thoughts and prayers go to the family. Fred was a great man, excellent business man, family man, caring contributing community member. I was fortunate to have seen and talked with Fred on several occasions recently, and reminded of just how hard working and great person he was. Thoughts and prayers, God Bless..,
