“Glen was my uncle. My mother, Margaret McCampbell Mathis, was his sister. Glen and his first wife, Betty, lived in Spring City, TN near us before moving to Indiana. Glen was a great talker, quick to laugh and always had a beautiful smile. He was also a very gentle man.

Both he and Betty knew I loved fried potatoes and they would always invite me over to eat with them when that was on the menu! Such a small gesture that meant so much to me and has been a fond memory over the years. He never came back to Spring City visit Granny and Grandpa without visiting with each of his sisters and brothers, he loved his family and we loved him.

Carol, Ronnie and Debra, you are in my prayers.

Blessings, Edna McCampbell Homar

“ Glen was my uncle by marriage. His first wife, Betty, was my mother's sister, Imogene Martin Pogue of Kingston, TN. Glenn and Betty lived with us in Kingston until moving to Hagerstown around 1960. Glen was a caring person and when something was going on in our family, he would almost always come to Tennessee to be there for us. He was a good person and will be missed by all of us. Love you Uncle Glen.
