“Millie used to hang out with my mother (Vivian Hoover) in their single years. They had many fun times together. They met through my friendship with Joyce.

My sister sent me her obituary and I am so sorry of your families loss. She was so close to her 100 mark and knowing her I think she was trying to make that mark. I have a story I would like to share with you all.

We were taking Mom with us (me+my husband) on a vacation to Honolulu. We ask her if there was a friend that she might want to go along and she ask Millie. All went well until we went to the open air market in Honolulu to shop. We lost Mom and Millie. We got separated. We found Millie who was happy to see us. She didn't know where Mom was and we were all worried. The 3 of us decided to spit up and cover more territory. I went back to the meeting place after looking for 30 minutes where my husband was standing with Mom. She was mad and crying because she thought we all left her. Now we didn't have Millie. 20 minutes later Millie showed up crying because she was lost and couldn't find the meeting place. Needless to say we all were inseparable the rest of the trip.

*Joyce, I would love to hear from you! Jeri (kay) Hoover/Johnson
